

Dear Chairman Powell,

I am distressed by the Commission's support for the repeal of cross-ownership regulations which only will benefit wealthy media conglomerates and not the public interest which the FCC is meant to protect. These regulations safeguard the very nature of a free press and public ownership of the airwaves. To repeal them is to diminish and mock the media's central place in a free and democratic society. Please reconsider your position and instead take steps to insure that the free flow of information to the public is not monopolized by the corporate interests of a few industry giants, but instead serves the democratic needs of the American people. Thank you.

Sincerely yours,
Loretta Alper
